

DYSLEXIA & DYSCALCULIA

what's the denominator?

Square Pegs' 2017 Conference brings together world leading experts in the fields of dyslexia and dyscalculia, who will provide a wealth of valuable information, research and innovative, evidence validated strategies to assist in the successful acquisition of skills in language, literacy and numeracy for all children, including those who learn differently.

OCTOBER 2017 | HOBART

University of Tasmania, Sandy Bay Campus

- Friday 6 October - Masterclasses $200
- Saturday 7 October - Conference $320

This jam-packed event is particularly relevant for:

Learning Support Teachers | Principals | Speech Pathologists
Educational Psychologists | Teachers | Occupational Therapists
Tutors | Early Childhood Educators | Parents

Enjoy conference sundowners on Friday 6 October, featuring gorgeous Tasmanian wines and produce.

Dr Steve Chinn

International researcher, consultant and author of The Trouble with Maths. Expert in dyscalculia and former Principal of UK specialist dyslexia schools.

Judy Hornigold

Independent UK based education consultant specialising in dyslexia and dyscalculia.

Sarah Asome

Learning and Curriculum Support Leader, Bentley West Primary and Victorian Outstanding Teacher awardee.

Bill Hansberry

Specialist in teaching students with dyslexia and training for schools in Specific Learning Disabilities (SLDs) and author.

Mandy Nayton

Executive Officer of DSF Literacy and Clinical Services. Educational and developmental psychologist, qualified teacher and current President of AUSPELD.

Professor Michael Rowan

Emeritus Professor at the University of South Australia and co-founder of the Tasmanian Education Ambassadors.

James Justice Bond

Advocate for the rights of children and adults with dyslexia, instrumental in introduction of a number of laws to support people with dyslexia.

To register or for more click here or visit squarepegstas.org